SOVIETS TO ASK BILLION DOLLAR LOAN FROM ALLIES

Must Have "Something To Take Home," They Say

REPLY TO NOTE

Cannot Yield On Private Property Attitude

London, May 10.—M. Chicherin, interviewed by the Genoa correspondent of the Daily Herald, said that the Russian Note would demand a loan of 1,000,000,000 dollars, either in money or goods. They must have something concrete to take home, he said, in return for their recognition of Russia's debts.

(Reuter's Service)

Genoa, May 9.—The Russians have communicated the general trend of their reply to the Allied memorandum, which will be presented tomorrow.

The reply is apparently a long and argumentative document. The Russian delegates declare that the note was prepared in a spirit of conciliation and that it goes as far as possible as regards concessions.

After disagreeing with some of the proposals put forward in the memorandum, the hope is expressed that difficulty will not present itself in eliminating the political features of the memorandum, inasmuch as the Russians have generally endeavored to bridge the conflicting social and economic systems.

The desire is emphasised that the negotiations will not be ruptured. The note goes on to declare that the Anglo-Russian Trade agreement, if not wholly satisfactory, has resulted in the two countries becoming less distant and thinks that the Genoa Conference has proved a great help.

Regarding the clause dealing with the restitution of private property, the reply holds that the world must accustom itself to the fact of the existence of an European state whose life is based essentially on the system of state property. It argues that invidualistic and collectivist conceptions of life exist in Russia, both of which have their own sphere, and contends that this proves that a dual system can also exist in international relations and yet leave plenty of room for private enterprise.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 10.—The Cabinet's attitude hardened today on the subject of the restitution of private property by Russia which was raised by the Belgian delegates at Genoa. The Cabinet decided that even if Belgium should accept a compromise formula, France would only subscribe on condition that the rights of French citizens were strictly safeguarded and guaranteed.

Paris, May 9.—M. Poincare has written a letter to Lord Hardinge, the British Ambassador in Paris, with a view to dissipating Mr. Lloyd George's "perturbation and astonishment" in consequence of the phrase in which M. Poincare previously expressed French sympathy to Belgium (in connection with the difference over the restitution of private property by Russia) without alluding to Franco-British sympathy.

The Premier avers that there is not a single Frenchman who does not preserve a precious memory of the co-operation of the two countries before, during and after the war who does not heartily desire the permanence of cordial relations.

Berlin, May 9.—M. Joffe, the Soviet Ambassador to Berlin, and two of his colleagues arrived from Genoa today, and proceeded immediately to Moscow by aeroplane.

Washington, May 9.—At a cabinet meeting the question of Russian problems was discussed and the opinion reached that the Allies at Genoa have taken the same view toward Russia as previously expressed by the United States.

An administration spokesman expressed the hope that a solution which could be endorsed by the United States would settle

Harding Boosts Trans-Pacific Radio Communication For Newspapers

PRESIDENT Warren G. Harding has become a booster for trans-Pacific radio communication for newspapers. With the nation's chief executive are Dean Walter Williams, of the Missouri School of Journalism, and president of the World Press Congress, left, and J. W. Brown, secretary-treasurer of that organisation, both of whom are ardent advisors in the undertaking.

Powers At Washington Did Best To Aid China, Declares Minister Koo

Popular Envoy At Court Of St. James Denies Report That He Has Been Offered Foreign Portfolio In Wang Shih-chen Cabinet

That the other eight powers represented at the Washington Conference did everything they could to bring about a just solution of the vexing Chinese problems was the opinion of Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, China's Minister to the Court of St. James and one of the principal delegates to the recent world confab in an interview granted to a representative of THE CHINA PRESS upon his arrival here yesterday by the steamer Khyber. Dr. Koo was accompanied by Madame Koo and three children including his infant son, Balfour Hughes, and his two secretaries, Messrs. Chao Chuan and Shan.

"The adjustment at Washington will give China an opportunity to reconstruct herself," said the popular Minister. "China can now be assured of her own sovereign rights and of gradually recovering the rights she lost in the early part of her diplomatic intercourse.

"My mission is to interpret the treaties signed at the Conference in their true spirit. The government in Peking has expressed the desire that I should come back and carry out the stipulations of the pacts as they were intended by the delegates at the assembly and I welcome the opportunity of returning to our motherland and of acquainting myself with the domestic situation."

Dr. Koo expressed satisfaction over the appointment of Dr. C. T. Wang as director-general of Shantung Retrocession. He said that Dr. Wang is fully acquainted with the details of the Shantung controversy and as one of his colleagues at Versailles did much to secure the beneficial results obtained eventually at Washington.

Dr. Koo will remain in Shanghai for about two weeks before proceeding to Peking. He denied that he had been offered the foreign portfolio in the Wang Shih-chen Cabinet. Meanwhile many local organisations and officials are planning receptions for Minister and Madame Koo. Dr. Koo has consented to give a public address at the Chinese Chamber of Commerce on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the evening, he will be guest at a concert-dance to be given by the American Returned Students' Club at its clubhouse, P. 60 Nanking Road.

LU GIVES PLANS FOR CALLING OF PEACE PARLEY

Sends Wire To President Urging People's Assembly

Concrete plans for the calling of a National Convention to discuss internal peace as well as other problems of domestic importance are presented by General Lu Yung-hsiang, Tuchun of Chekiang, in a telegram addressed to President Hsu Shih-chang.

As suggested by Lu, the conference should vest its sovereign power in the people of the provinces and should not regard the North and the South as belligerents at a peace table. With the people as its constituents, no political influences should be allowed to be brought to bear upon the sessions.

The scope of the conference, according to General Lu, should not be limited to legislative and administrative questions alone, but should include the capacity to adopt any reconstructive measures necessary for the well-being of the nation.

DR. WANG GOES TO CONFER WITH MINISTER OBATA

Will Discuss Further Plans For Tsingtau Retrocession

Dr. C. T. Wang, director-general of Shantung Rehabilitation, will leave here for Peking this morning to hold a conference with M. Obata, the Japanese Minister, on further plans for retrocession of Tsingtau. The Japanese gaurds along the Kiaochow-Tsinan Railway having been replaced completely by Chinese police, the discussion for the process of handing over the railway, the municipality of Tsingtau, the salt fields, the dock, the mines and other holdings, is now in order.

Dr. Wang will be accompanied by Mr. Hsu Tung-fang, foreign secretary of the Civil Governor of Shantung and one of the advisors to the Chinese delegation to the Washington Conference, and by a number of secretaries. The commission will remain in Peking for about a month and then return to Tsinanfu.

Christian Conference Elects 97 Members Of New National Council

Body Will Take Up Work Of Continuation Committee Under New Program; Assembly Passes Resolution On Labor Reforms; Sessions End Today

The National Christian Conference went on record at yesterday morning's session as advocating amelioration of industrial labor conditions in China by passing the following resolution, presented at the opening of the meeting by Dr. Yui, chairman of the Business Committee:

"In view of the importance of industrial problems and of the present state of public opinion in China

"Be it resolved that this conference expresses its endorsement of the following standards for industrial labor:

a. No employment of children under twelve years of age.

b. One day's rest in seven.

c. The safeguarding of the health of the workers, by limiting hours, by the improvement of sanitary conditions, by the installing of safety devices.

"That this conference directs the National Christian Council to give these standards widest publicity.

"And that this conference calls upon Christian organisations throughout the country to endorse these standards and to take action to see that they are brought into force in China as soon as possible."

In the light of the discussion of the day previous upon the responsibility of the church to the right solution of economic and industrial problems, this resolution was carried unanimously.

TO DEVELOP LEADERS

The leading issue of the morning was consideration of the report of Commission IV on "The Development of Leadership for the Work of the Church." This report was presented by Dr. R. Y. Lo, associate chairman of this Commission. The report considers the need of recruiting, training and developing pastors, evangelists, social workers, educationalists, medical workers, literary workers and voluntary leadership. The frankness of this report is of interest as it spares no words as to the need of revision of the salary scale of Chinese Christian workers, the need of a far higher standard of intellectual ability for such leaders and of a greater degree of initiative and authority to be given to Chinese leadership. In the last connection it is of interest to note that a missionary is quoted in his report as saying: "China's returned students from America and Europe should be supplying more than half of that sort of leadership now reserved almost entirely for foreigners." Some of the specially interesting passages from this report are as follows:

"The average pastor in the city is underrated by the average member and certainly by the average missionary, with regard to ability, influence and attractiveness. They are too much depreciated in ordinary ways. They were trained to be preachers, and suddenly, because of a changed society and a new conception of Christianity, they find they must be executives as well, putting their members to work, organising a wide program, and getting results that their teachers never told them of. The man trained twenty years ago was trained according to methods in vogue in Western churches a quarter of a century before that, and yet he is today in a church surrounded by progressive, educated, exacting people.

ACCOUNTS FOR WEAKNESS

"The absence of qualified and adequate leadership accounts in no small part for the weakness of the existing leadership and the unproductiveness, intellectual and spiritual, of native Christianity. We all realise that China is in the midst of a great intellectual crisis, which unless adequately met and properly handled, threatens our very existence. The New Thought Movement which is spreading so rapidly, is probably the beginning of an intellectual renaissence which will sooner or later permeate the people as a whole and will condition the whole task of presenting Christianity to them. Moreover, the Chinese are naturally rationalistic and curious, and as a people they will not accept Christianity unless it is presented to them in a form which satisfies their intellectual as well as their moral and spiritual demands.

"A generation ago when the Church reached only the lower and middle classes and when the literati knew but little Western culture, a mediocre mental equipment was not a serious handicap if it were offset by a genuine and deep religious experience. But today, when science and philosophy are widely taught and when all classes are open to the message of the Gospel, it is especially necessary that ordained representatives of the Church receive the best training obtainable. If they fail to do so, they cannot command the respect of the intellectual leaders of the land, and will in time, although to a lesser degree than the Buddhist and Taoist priesthood, be contemptuously ignored or impatiently tolerated by the men who are moulding the nation. In the face of present changing conditions in China, the Church cannot afford to be less thoroughly equipped educationally than those whom she serves.

RESPONSE IS UNIQUE

"Whereas in western lands where Christianity is strong, social reforms have grown gradually during many centuries and social service and philanthropy are already several generations old, both of these have come to China witnin a few years, with sudden impact, as China has met Western conditions and especially as China has met Christianity. China's response to the social message is unique in history. Social well-being is now desired by the Chinese people with an eagerness equalled nowhere else, albeit without knowing how to accomplish it. The social worker therefore has a most unusual opportunity for serving his community and for developing in practical experience programs which will later be adapted and used for the benefit of millions of people.

"The strength of the present social workers lies partly in the religious motive which spurs them on; partly in the practical appeal which they make along lines of individual and community betterment; and partly in the social intercourse between men of different sections of the land, which has helped greatly in the formation of the present feeling of national unity. Any organisation that will unselfishly promote social uplift, show men the way to secure larger results for themselves and their fellows in life and happiness, will find a ready response on the part of the Chinese. Many of them will respond heartily as well to the religious appeal which is given such prominence by the Associations.

"Whether or not philanthropy in the future, and health work, sanitation and general reforms, will be considered as springing from Christianity or merely scientific and materialistic, depends to no small extent upon the social workers of the present hour and the immediate future. If the immediate future finds Christianity responding whole-

Confucius Died Believing His Life Had Been Failure

By Elsie McCormick

The story of Confucius' life reads strangely unlike the biography of a successful man. He achieved no high official distinctions, he wandered wearily from court to court until he was finally described as having "the forsaken appearance of a stray dog," and he died bitterly convinced that his life had been a failure.

"I will get a raft and float about upon the sea," said the sage commenting acidly on the lack of progress made by his teachings.

His long wanderings from the lukewarm protection of one prince to the dubious hospitality of another were the result of his overwhelming belief in the force of a good example. Confucius' theory of government was simple. Put a good man at the head of the state and the people will trip over each other's shoe-laces in their haste to imitate him. The lengths to which he carried this faith are illustrated by his conversation in regard to the Nine Wild Tribes of the West.

"I'd rather like to go out and visit the Nine Wild Tribes of the West," Confucius remarked one day, across the chopsticks.

"But they are very savage," objected one of his disciples.

"If an enlightened man came to live among them, how could they remain savage?" the philosopher naively inquired. The hardy willingness of wild tribesmen to remain wild even in the presence of sages was apparently unknown to Confucius. Fortunately he didn't try the experiment; otherwise his teachings would have come to an abrupt conclusion.

BECAME TRAVELER

In order to achieve a perfect government, it was merely necessary for Confucius to kick out a pliant prince and show him where to sign his name on the dotted line. Confucius hoped to rule vicariously, through the head of a state who would unquestioningly follow his dictates. Unfortunately pliant princes don't grow on raspberry bushes, and Confucius found himself obliged to do a lot of traveling.

The Duke of Chi'n listened for a time; then transferred his interest to a number of dancing girls imported from the leading cabarets of the neighboring dukedom. Ancient authorities differ on whether the artistes numbered eighty or six. It seems to us that it really doesn't matter, however, as six conscientious cabaret ladies could probably absorb as much of a ruler's working-hours as an entire ballet. At any rate, after the Duke declined for three days to confer with him, Confucius moved on to the Dukedom of Wei. Here all went well until another lady of light reputation became involved in the plot. The Duke once ordered Confucius to follow behind her in his carriage and the resulting merriment in the land of Wei caused the sage to call for the baggage porters.

"Rotten wood cannot be carved," remarked Confucius after a very brief experience with Duke Ting of Lu. The chronicles do not say whether ladies were involved or not, but in any case, Duke Ting did not seem to be the proper timber for a perfect governor.

HIS VISIT ENDS

Confucius' stay in the land of Tse came to a sudden end after the prime minister delivered a little oration with the sage for a subject. "These scholars are impractical and cannot be imitated," he said. "They are haughty and conceited of their own views, so that they will not rest satisfied in inferior positions. This Kung Fu-tze has a thousand peculiarities. It would take ages to exhaust all he knows about the ceremonies of going up and going down." This prime minister, who was probably a very important person in his day, would be surprised to know that his only claims to fame are those disparaging remarks he once made about a wandering philosopher.

Confucius not only suffered from the snubs of undiscriminating princes; he sometimes actually endured want. Once for seven days he and his disciples were almost without food. "Must the enlightened man endure such privations?" asked a petulant disciple after tightening up his belt. Confucius replied, "The enlightened man may indeed have to endure want, but the mean man in distress gives way to unbridled license."

At another time Confucius was beseiged in an inn for five days because of his resemblance to a notorious bandit; and again, as he was approaching a town, he was seized by a Vigilance Committee who advised him to omit his intended visit. For thirteen years he continued his wanderings, buoyed up by hope each time a little dukedom split, amoeba-like, in two, but dashed again when the new duke proved to be as tough-hided as the rest.

BELIEVED IN PRECEPT

Until the end of his life, Confucius clung to his theory

WU RETURNS TO BASE, MEN DRIVE AFTER FENGTIENITES

Chihli Forces Attack Remnants Of Chang's Army

TRAINS RUNNING

Victor Will Not Try To Run Government, Belief

BY BERT L. KUHN
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Tientsin, May 10.—Many Fengtien stragglers are being rounded up in the vicinity of Tientsin. Passenger service on the Tientsin-Pukow railway has been resumed.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tientsin, May 10.—The Chihli troops are now attacking the Fengtien troops on all sides with Tientsin as the central battle field. Chunliangcheng has now been captured by the 4th Mixed Brigade of the Chihli troops, and some 1,700 Fengtien soldiers, including Li Ching-lin, Commander of the 7th Mixed Brigade, and Chang Chiu-ching, Commander of the 4th Mixed Brigade, of the Fengtien troops have been taken prisoners in addition to some provisions trains. In the district of Changchuang too, the Fengtien troops have been repulsed by the Chihli troops, which have seized two big-guns and several machine-guns.

There were also skirmishes in the district of Hsiaochan.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, May 10.—General Wu Pei-fu left Tientsin for Paotingfu at eight o'clock this evening. The opinion is expressed that his departure indicates that he desires to demonstrate that he does not intend to dominate the Government.

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, May 10.—The Peking-Mukden railway, outside of the Great Wall, has been torn up by Fengtien troops.

General Chang Tso-lin has fled on board a Japanese steamer.

President Hsu Shih-chang has telegraphed to Marshal Tsao Kun and General Wu Pei-fu inviting them to enter the Capital to discuss the internal situation.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, May 10.—As previously reported, the Central Government has definitely decided to dismiss Chang Tso-lin, to put him to trial and to appoint General Sun Lieh-chen as Tuchun of Fengtien province. In this connection, the Kin Pao today reports that it is expected that a Presidential Mandate will be issued in a day or two, officially announcing the dismissal and trial of Chang Tso-lin and the appointment of General Sun Lieh-chen as Tuchun of Fengtien. It is likely, the paper also reports, that General Wu Chun-sheng, Tuchun of Heilungkiang, will be appointed as Tuchun of Kirin, and General Pa Ying-e as Tuchun of Heilungkiang.

Wu Has Four Big Plans For China

BY BERT L. KUHN
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Tientsin, May 7.—"Early unification of China.

"The early abolition of the Southwest government.

"A reform in law and jurisprudence."

"Confine the activities of militarists to their own territories."

These are the four outstanding features in the program which General Wu Pei-fu, victor in one of the shortest and most brilliant military campaigns in China's history, proposes to carry through. He emphasised them in an interview given in the early morning hours today to a group of foreign newspapermen immediately following his arrival at Tientsin

Central station with the vanguard of his conquering army.

Despite the stress of the campaign through which he had just passed, General Wu was in no vindictive mood. His every thought was constructive in its nature. His chief desire, he indicated, was to re-establish order and to give China a chance to obtain a really representative form of government. If further force were necessary to accomplish this, it was made evident that he was ready to exert it, but his hope was that if possible, all might now be accomplished peacefully.

"It is regrettable that the events of the past ten days should have occurred," he said, "but apparently they were unavoidable. My aim is to see a reunified China, a China which may take the place she deserves in the family of nations.

"I do not intend to resort to arms further unless conditions make it necessary. If the Fengtien troops are withdrawn beyond Shanhaikuan—if Chihli province is cleared—I shall be satisfied. I understand that the Fengtien troops are being massed in considerable numbers, however, at Lanchow, and unless they are withdrawn I shall have to drive them from the province."

Asked regarding his attitude toward Chang Tso-lin as overlord of Manchuria and Mongolia, General Wu said that he held to the opinion that General Chang, as a servant of the Peking government, had his duty to perform in maintaining a lawful and orderly government there, and that he would not interfere in the event that General Chang did so. He added the hope that "the troops which are injuring the people of China be disbanded."

With specific regard to Chihli Province, General Wu declared that orderly conditions would soon be restored.

"The lines of communication will be restored as quickly as possible," he said. "The Peking-Hankow railroad is now open to general traffic. The Peking-Tientsin Railway will commence operations today. I trust that the line between Tientsin and Mukden will soon be restored to normal conditions. The Tientsin-Pukow line will be reopened to general traffic as soon as possible."

Wu And Chang Vastly Different In Character

BY BERT L. KUHN
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Tientsin, May 7.—At 12 o'clock noon last Thursday, Chang Tso-lin, generalissimo of Fengtien, passed through Tientsin en route to Laofa to view his troops in action. It was the first time he had attempted to watch his forces in the field. Six hours later, he returned through Tientsin, apparently satisfied that he was powerless to check the rout which was already in progress.

At 1:20 o'clock this morning, a matter of some fifty-five hours later, another generalissimo came to Tientsin. He was Wu Pei-fu, leader of the opposing and victorious Chihli forces. He arrived a bit more than an hour after the first trainload of his troops entered the Central Station at Tientsin. He had not only been with, but fought with his men. The contrast, perhaps, offers somewhat of a clue to why Fengtien was so quickly and so severely defeated.

In physical appearance, the opposing leaders have much in common. Both are small, both slight in build. Both seem insignificant physically in comparison with the big, broad-chested soldiers with whom they have surrounded themselves. Chang Tso-lin, despite his early reputation as a bandit chief, seems more suave, more polished. The nails of his well manicured hands glisten. His gestures are of a polite, graceful sort; his voice low, well-modulated, agreeable. Wu Pei-fu has a low, receding forehead.

ABRUPT IN SPEECH

Despite the lateness of the hour when I saw him—it was nearly 2—energy marked his movements. His speech was abrupt, direct. He wasted no time in introductory oratory. His verbiage, I am told, was of a sort in common use. Chang Tso-lin gave the appearance of the politician, smooth, glib, yet careful in his speech. Wu Pei-fu seemed and is a soldier. Chang was dressed simply, but apparently with care; Wu slouched in the folds of a big trench overcoat. Chang spoke of the future, with a careful avoidance of details. Wu too spoke of the future, the immediate future, with an emphasis on concrete matters such as the reopening of railroads; his possible immediate military activities, etc.

Chang Tso-lin, although he was living simply at his headquarters at Chunliangcheng, insisted on ceremony of a high order and most extraordinary precautions when he traveled. Word of his coming through came in whispers. Scores of police cleared the platforms of all save foreigners. A pilot engine preceded his special train. And the special itself, in the middle of which was Chang's private car, was a moving fortress, with machine guns on flat cars, ready for action. Wu Pei-fu's private car was attached to the third of his troop trains to enter Tientsin. The men in the earlier trains—and Wu, himself—had been obliged to fight their way down the line from Huang Tsun, some sixty miles, during the day.

RUSTLE AT STATION

The arrival of Chang Tso-lin's train at Tientsin Central station was the signal for a burst of activity on the part of his troops stationed there as guards. Foreign newspapermen were brushed roughly aside as they attempted to obtain photographs. No one was allowed on the station platform.

Wu Pei-fu arrived, tired to the point of exhaustion. His men were already in complete control of the station. Yet they held themselves in perfect order. Their first announcement requested that all foreigners present—there were Japanese and French military and naval detachments, a few newspapermen, and two or three business men—step into the station waiting room. After presenting their cards, all were admitted to the General's car. With each detachment he spent fifteen to twenty-five minutes, answering all questions and taking in modest fashion the congratulations of all.

Wu saw everyone who requested to see him—foreigners first, and later throughout the night crowds of influential Chinese. Chang saw no one, and no one saw Chang. The closely drawn shades of his private car were never lifted for a second.

The brief interval between the arrival of the two leaders gave Tientsin a rare opportunity to see and judge. And Tientsin did.

Notes On The Situation

A Presidential Mandate under date of May 7 ordered the Ministry of Finance to remit $100,000 for the repatriation of Fengtien stragglers in the vicinity of Peking.

According to information received at the British Legation in Peking, Chang Tso-lin is in Lwanchow and is still head of an army of 18,000 troops stationed between Lwanchow and Tangshan.

Mr. Chen Hun-nien, Vice-Minister of Communications, who was arrested by Chihli troops at Fengtai and handed over to the Peking Precautionary Headquarters, has effected his escape and is now a refugee at the Japanese barracks.

An office of "Inspector-General of the Seas" will be created to reward the service rendered by Admiral Sah Cheng-ping in the suppression of Chang Tso-lin, according to report.

In conversation with his friends, General Wu Pei-fu said that the arms seized from Fengtien troops in the recent warfare are of sufficient value to pay for his military expenses.

General Wu Pei-fu has ordered that no Fengtien troops be allowed to board any train along the Peking-Mukden Railway.

Three million rounds of ammunition was the contribution of the Kiangsu Tuchun to the Chihli cause.

General Wu Pei-fu has expressed his disapproval of the appointment of Sun Li-chen as Fengtien Tuchun in succession of Chang Tso-lin. He has recommended the appointment of General Wang Chen-ping, the commander of the 23rd Chihli Division who is a native of Fengtien.

Five days' leave of absence has been granted to General Pao Kwei-ching. During his absence, Chin Shao-tseng will act as Minister of War.

The Tuchuns of Kiangsu, Hupeh and Shantung, Generals Chi Shih-yuan, Hsiao Yao-nan and Tien Chung-yu, have jointly demanded the severe punishment of Chang Tso-lin.

The report that Tuchun Lu Yung-hsiang of Chekiang has tendered his resignation has been officially denied by the Cabinet.

Soviets To Ask Loan From Allies relations with Russia independently.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 9.—Mr. Leslie Urquhart, Chairman of the Russo-Asiatic Consolidated Company, on his return from Genoa, said, with regard to the Russian question, that the Soviet could not afford to agree, in any set terms, to the recognition of the principle of private property, but the door was not therefore closed on the resumption of commercial relations with Russia. Given confidence and good faith, there were alternative formulae which could form a practical basis for a trading agreement. He was confident, he said, that the Genoa Conference had hastened Russia's convalescence.

(Reuter's Service)

Genoa, May 9.—The Conference is marking time today. The heads of the British, German, French and Belgian delegations are busy conferring separately at their respective headquarters, but the others are bathing and playing tennis.

It is, however, the general feeling that anything may happen at any moment. The Russians maintain a sphinx like attitude.

(China Press Service)

Genoa, May 10.—Lloyd George still professed optimism tonight and is still keeping up his usual smile but most of the delegates to the conference no longer have the heart to smile. Lloyd George said.

"Many difficulties worse than this have been passed and we shall pass this. We have come to Genoa to overcome just such difficulties, otherwise no conference would have been called."

In Genoa itself, all sorts of rumors are rampant about the breaking up of the entente and imminent dissolution of the economic conference. The French and Belgians are firm in opposition to a clause in the memorandum to Russia and insist that the failure of the Russians to accept will mark the end of the conference.

The Russian statement denounced the French and Belgians charging them with intent to break up the conference while they themselves will not endorse the very document which they are discussing.

Lloyd George and the French delegates both denied the reports A British newspaper's story of the interview between Lloyd George and Barthou terminates with the declaration of Lloyd George that disagreement meant the end of the entente.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 9.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Austen Chamberlain read Mr. Lloyd George's letter to M. Barthou requesting him to contradict the Times Genoa correspondent's report of their conversation.

Mr. Lloyd George says he was a strong partisan of the Entente long before the war and that he values French and British co-operation too highly to tolerate public mis-statemets regarding official conversations at a moment of great importance to the relations of the two countries.

Mr. Chamberlain also read M. Barthou's reply.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 10.—The Cabinet yesterday discussed the Russian problem as affected by the negotiations at Genoa. The opinion was generally expressed at the meeting that the attitude of the Allied Governments towards the Soviet disclosed at Genoa virtually agreed with the policies of the United States. The hope was expressed that the Conference would find a solution acceptable to the United States.

Genoa, May 10.—In a memorandum addressed to the States attending the Conference, the Pope requests that the agreement to be concluded shall explicitly provide for full liberty of conscience in Russia in the exercise of public and private worship and for the restoration of and respect to property belonging to religious communities.

Paris, May 10.—Advices from Genoa state that it is believed that Great Britain and Italy are drafting a general political and economic agreement guaranteeing Italy's position in the Mediterranean.

MAJOR JIRO KAKASE

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 10.—The death has occurred here of Major Jiro Kawase, Assistant Military Attache to the Japanese Embassy.

HOW TO "GROW" A NEW COMPLEXION

These are the days of "hustling." In a week we see and do more than our grandmothers did in a year. We are gradually turning nature to be our servant; we use her great forces against herself. We have conquered sea and sky, now our doctors are fighting not only disease, but old age. There is talk of rejuvenating human beings by the injection of animal glands, but as yet, only the few can avail themselves of the treatment.

There is, however, one secret of perpetual youth that is in the reach of everyone. Scientists now realise that the only way of keeping the skin young and fresh is to examine Nature's methods and to find some way of imitating her.

SCIENTIFIC BEAUTY.

In order to explain the new method of keeping the complexion perpetually youthful, one must understand something of the nature of the skin. A baby's skin is always clear and smooth because the outer layer is always invisibly peeling off, and new layers are forming just as fast underneath, so that the exposed skin is always fresh, unwrinkled and "new."

For the first few years of our lives, this peeling is a purely natural process, but as we grow older, we gradually lose the power of throwing off our old soiled outer skins, so that our complexions become lined and yellow, and the new skin has no chance to show itself.

A few years ago, a scientific chemist realised that a little-known substance called mercolised wax, was exactly what was needed to "keep nature up to the mark." It appears that this substance, which is now unversally obtainable, gently and painlessly assists nature in throwing off the soiled outer cuticle. The skin is thus perpetually renewed, and a clear youthful complexion can be preserved to any age. (Advt.)

Says Marcosson in "The American"

Isaac F. Marcosson who is visiting Shanghai this week has an article in the current American Magazine on "How Big Men Hit the Nail on the Head." In his description is this paragraph:

"Rhodes's (Cecil Rhodes of African fame) attitude toward money was typical. To him it existed merely as a means to an end. When General Gordon told him that he had refused a roomful of silver for his services in exterminating the Chinese bandits, the great empire-builder looked at him in amazement and said: 'Why didn't you take it? What earthly use is there in having ideas if you haven't the money with which to carry them out?"

A Savings Account at the A. O. B. C. won't guarantee that constructive IDEAS will come to you, but it will assist you in having the MONEY to carry them out when they do come.

SCRAPPING OLD WARSHIPS NOW BIG U. S. INDUSTRY

Once Proud Fighters Of Sea Being Torn To Pieces

(Reuter's Service)

Philadelphia, Pa., April 21.—A new industry—scrapping of old warships—has sprung up along the Delaware river where, not so long ago, more than one hundred thousand men were working feverishly to help build a bridge of ships across the Atlantic to check the progress of Germany in the world war.

Philadelphia, the birthplace of many of the vessels, also is to be the graveyard of a number of the navy's once great fighting craft, discarded because they have become obsolete. Later when the scrapping program of the arms conference becomes effective many more ships will be added to the list. Hundreds of men are engaged in turning the steel from the discarded ships into billets that can be worked into materials for the construction of buildings, tools, locomotives, automobiles and other peace-time uses.

In one Delaware river shipyard, alone, there are awaiting dismantling the battleships Maine, Missouri and Wisconsin, the once-proud first-class cruiser Columbia, the monitors Ozark, Monterey and countless destroyers, eagle boats and smaller craft.

Powerful oxy-acetylene torches, wielded by masked workmen are being used to cut through the eleven-inch steel turret armor of the Maine, while a 125-ton crane was used to take out its 12-inch guns.

Further along the yard the little obsolete submarine, with its paper-thickness shell is being ripped apart with prosaic chisels to the accompaniment of the gatling gun-like staccato of compressed air hammers. The monitor Monterey, an improved edition of Ericson's gallant monitor of civil war fame, with its surface-flush deck, is being rapidly converted into billets. Its ten and twelve-inch rifles, however, still appear menacingly through the turrets of its squatty superstructure as they did in the early nineties when the Monterey was one of the most powerful battle craft afloat.

A little submarine A-1 Plunger, "grandfather" of the modern submarine cruiser S-41, is awaiting scrapping. Creature of the brain of J. P. Holland, the early trials of the A-1 were the subject of almost as much ridicule and scoffing as marked the first efforts of Robert Fulton and his steamboat on the Hudson river.

The most precious "junk" obtained from the ships is the copper gun metal, navy brass maganese bronze, lead and zinc. Complete destruction is not necessary in the case of all the craft. The hulls of some of the torpedo boats will undergo a transformation to adapt them to peaceful pursuits. This already has been done with the destroyers Truxton, Worden, and Whipple, which will fly between the United States and Central America carrying cargoes of fruit.

Engined with kerosene oil burners, they are large cargo carriers and of such light craft that they can navigate shallow rivers on high tide and lay off plantations for loading, thereby eliminating lighterage cost. Their clean lines give them great speed, which makes unnecessary the expensive refrigerating system used in slower fruit boats.

$3,000 Offered For Capture Of Korean Who Slew Mrs. Snyder

Au Soong Nyuin, one of the two Koreans who shot and killed Mrs. W. J. Snyder of Brazil, Indiana while attempting to assassinate Baron General Tanaka, and who escaped from the Japanese jail ten days ago, still is at large and as an added spur to those seeking the fugitive it was announced yesterday that the reward for the man's apprehension has been increased to $3,000 by the Japanese Consulate.

After the Korean's escape from the jail here all ordinary avenues by which he might leave Shanghai were closely watched and his former haunts were watched with all vigilance, but it is said no trace of the fugitive has yet been uncovered and it is feared that he may have made good his escape overland back to Korea. The other prisoner, Kim Eak Sang, has been sent to Nagasaki for trial.

Clever Entertainer Delights Big Crowd In Astor Ball Room

Miss Rita Shield, clever male impersonator, delighted a big crowd in the Astor House ball room last night on her first appearance here in a program of songs and dances. Appearing first in the conventional evening male attire, she scored immediately with her audience and her subsequent appearances, in various bifurcated costumes brought numerous encore calls. The songs were new and the dances attractive and the program throughout was enjoyable.

Assisting Miss Shield, Mr. Will Hender, xylophonist and jazz drummer, also came in for an enthusiastic reception.

Miss Shield comes to Shanghai following a successful six weeks' engagement at the Repulse Bay Hotel, Hongkong, and Mr. Hender, while leading the jazz orchestra there, was personally complimented on his skill by the Prince of Wales.

Miss Shield will appear again in the Astor ball room Saturday night.

"I know I should carry life insurance, but I can't afford it".

"THAT statement reveals the fact that if you were to die now your family would suffer. Then isn't this the very best time to insure? Taking out life insurance doesn't involve purchasing something that you can or can't afford. It is merely paying a debt that you owe, assuming a responsibility that you as a husband and father will not wish to avoid. Can you afford to have it said that you did not provide for your family as well as you were able?"

Confucius Died Believing His Life Had Been Failure

that a people can be depended upon to copy the good traits of their ruler.

"The virtue of the prince is like unto the wind; that of the people, like unto the grass," he remarked. "It is the nature of the grass to bend when the wind blows upon it." When he served a brief tenure of office as Minister of Crime, he stated that if the officials are righteous, capital punishment becomes unnecessary. Later, however, the sage himself signed several death-warrants without apparently being troubled by his inconsistency.

Confucius claimed that he needed only three years of power to create an ideal state. Though he once served as magistrate of a small city, and held a few minor offices, a larger opportunity never came. "No intelligent monarch arises," said Confucius in his old age. "There is no prince in the kingdom who will make me his master. My time has come to die."

It is clear that the Great Teacher's political theories can contribute nothing to the China of today. His paternalistic view of the state and his exaggerated belief in the willingness of the people to copy virtue in high circles are antiquated even in Asia. The idea of political democracy failed to cast the remotest shadow upon his mind. He never spoke even of councils or cabinets. What he vaguely hoped for was a race of moral supermen who would lift autocracy to a divine height. What he found were light-hearted, lightly loving feudal dukes who found more joy in sing-song girls than in the sonorous periods of the classics. Despite long years of disappointment, Confucius never saw fit to alter his theory and he died still hoping for an enlightened prince.

LORD LEE SEES DANGER OF WAR IN EAST REMOVED

British Peer Pays Glowing Tribute To Japan's Sincerity

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 10.—Addressing the Colonial Institute last night on the Washington Conference, Lord Lee referred to the Shantung settlement and said that he thought it was no exaggeration to say that the chances of war in the Pacific had been reduced to a minimum. The Nine-Power Treaty did not guarantee China against that sort of thing happening inside, but did, at least, end the era of competition amongst foreigners for the exploitation of China against her will and substituted a new era of co-operation with the Chinese for the opening up of her economic resources in a way ensuring fair play.

Lord Lee paid a glowing tribute to the spirit shown by the Japanese and their high statesmanship and willingness to sacrifice in the interests of peace and good feeling throughout the world. He could not too strongly deprecate any attempt to revive former misunderstandings and suspicions. He thought the latter unworthy and was sure they were unfounded. He was convinced, after months of daily contact with the Japanese statesmen, that they had not only played straight at Washington but that they intend to play straight in the future and to observe all engagements not only to the letter but in the spirit.

Albert Pays High Tribute To Britain

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, May 10.—Toasting the British Royal Family and the prosperity and glory of the British Majesties here last night, King Albert said that Belgium would never forget how the British Empire threw herself into the war with all her forces and the courage, sufferings and death of her heroes.

King George, replying, dwelt on the close ties between the two peoples owing to the war. His Majesty congratulated the Belgians on having advanced more rapidly than the other Allies towards the recovery of national prosperity and fortunes. The Belgian nation and the Belgians' Sovereigns would always be dear to his family and his people, King George concluded.

Dr. E. Tartois' Auto Destroyed By Fire

Some little excitement was occasioned in the neighborhood of the French Club last night when a Templar Roadster No. 287 owned by Dr. E. Tartois took fire in Rue Massenet a short distance from the corner of Route Corneille.

Mounting flames from the burning automobile set fire to a telephone post and a tree and lively fears of an explosion of the machine's gasoline tank were awakened. In answer to hurried calls the French Fire Department arrived and swiftly put out the fire which had been confined to the hood and body of the car and was kept away from the gasoline. It is thought that the blaze was caused when an overheated engine ignited oil drippings under the hood. The car was badly damaged but was not destroyed.

Whooping Cough.

This is a very dangerous disease, particularly to children under five years of age, but when no paregoric, codeine or other opiate is given, is easily cured by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Most people believe that it must run its course, not knowing that the time is very much shortened, and that there is little danger from the disease when this remedy is given. It has been used in many epidemics of whooping cough, with pronounced success. It is safe and pleasant to take.

C. hadn't pursued his investigation further—and they both went back to the godown. They arrived in time to meet Koo Kiangliang negotiating the exit under ballast consisting of two baskets of coal. The lock on the door was in a lamentable state. The coal, it developed, was the property of Mr. I. Kondo, who was under the impression all the while that it was securely sequestered in the godown. When the fingerprint experts skimmed back through their records they discovered fourteen previously dated index cards bearing smears of the Koo "loops," "whorls" and "composites" with appended notations regarding a long series of legal lapses. Yesterday Koo appeared at the Mixed Court, where it was arranged that he be turned out into the open again at this same uncertain season in 1924.

AUTO-INTOXICATION.

Like the other organs the stomach calls upon the blood for strength and nourishment to sustain it in its daily work. If the blood is impure the stomach receives a supply loaded with poisons, or "toxins" as they are called. Thus the body poisons itself, a process known by physicians as "auto-intoxication," or self-poisoning.

Oxygen is the element in nature that will render these poisons harmless and transform them chemically so that they may be cast out by the ordinary processes of the body. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enable the blood to absorb in large quantities the oxygen that is in the air we breathe and in this way they combat the poisons in the blood and enable it to restore the digestive organs to health and strength.

Dr. William's Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, at $1.50 per bottle, $8 for 6 bottles, post free.

Petted Salmon Lose Fighting Edge

(Reuter's Service)

Ottawa, Ont., April 12.—Government fish hatcheries have ruined the "morale" of the salmon of British Columbia, according to the story told to the House of Commons by A. W. Neill, Independent (Comox-Alberni). It seems that when the wee salmon come into the world at the fish hatchery they are guarded against all enemies and lose their protective instinct.

So when the salmon has come of age and is sent out in the cold world he is as "tame as a cat," to use Mr. Neill's expression, and when he meets an enemy he "stands with his mouth open and accepts murder as if such a thing was foreordained."

SHANGHAI TAKES LEAD OF 41 RUNS WITH 3 WICKETS IN HAND OVER HONGKONG

Score When Stumps Are Drawn Is Shanghai 232 For 7 Wickets Against 191 For Visitors; Cockburn, New Local Player, Is Highest Man At Bat With 89 Runs

As a result of the first day's play between Shanghai's Interport XI and the Hongkong United Service Team, Shanghai sustained a promising lead of 41 runs with 3 wickets in hand, scoring 232 for 7 wickets against their opponents' 191.

Hongkong's batting was good and came as quite a surprise to the local public, while their fielding throughout was splendid and kept down Shanghai's score considerably.

Cockburn's batting was the mainstay of the Shanghai team, he played every run of his 89 and is to be congratulated on his fine effort, this being his first public appearance in Shanghai cricket. Hayward's 58 was quite brilliant and his score invaluable to his side.

For the Hongkong team the outstanding features were the batting of Major Bagnall and the bowling of P. H. Davies.

The standing scores tend to point out a very close finish to a successful first day's play.

ALLISON STOPS FIRST MAN

Olliver and Stewart opened for Hongkong, with Wilson starting the bowling for Shanghai. Allison was on the other end. Stewart was bowled by Allison after the first run. Captain Le Fleming went in after Stewart and there was a change in the bowling. Billings relieving Wilson.

There was steady play, Olliver doing much of the scoring. When the board showed 30 runs, Wainwright went on in place of Allison. Olliver made two fours, making a nice offdrive for the second four off Billings, the score reading 38. Wainwright still bowling.

The score went up by ones and twos and eventually reached 54 when Olliver was caught by Wainwright, off Billings, Olliver having scored 35 runs.

Purcell was bowled by Wainwright after ten runs. Davis, who followed secured 13 when Clifford caught him off Allison, the score at this point being 102 runs for five wickets.

Davis then joined Le Fleming, who was batting well, Billings still retaining his good length. A change was made, however, Leach going to the far end in place of Billings. Leach succeeded in bowling Le Fleming in his first over. The score then stood at 82: 4: 30.

Morrill followed and with cautious play the score slowly crept up although Morrill gave easy chance of being caught and bowled by Leach.

Allison then relieved Wainright whose breaks were unavailing. Morrill put up the 100 with a well hit boundary. Soon after Davis was well caught by Clifford, returning with 13 runs.

BAGNALL WOKE 'EM UP

Major Bagnall followed on and things livened up somewhat, Bagnall scoring a four and a couple of 2's. Billings and Wainwright were then put on again. Morrill hit Billings for a six followed by Bagnall, who also hit a splendid 6 onto the tea tent. There was another double change in the bowling, Cockburn and Wilson being put on.

Morrill then had the misfortune of being well caught by Brook behind the wicket off Cockburn having scored 24. The score standing at 183 runs for six wickets, last man 24.

Hayter then went in and two maidens were bowled; the teams adjourning for tiffin at 1:30.

Wilson went on at the beginning of the play after tiffin and from his first over Major Bagnall scored three 4's and a 2. Later, from the same end Wainwright missed catching Bagnall. Allison then went on bowling from the South side. Billings took over Wilson's end although Wilson's last over was a maiden. A further lease of life was given Bagnall when Hayward failed to catch a high drive. Allison went on again. He missed catching Hayter although the chance was an easy one. After Sparke had got to the wicket Major Bagnall's luck was even more pronounced and Wilson missed another easy catch in the long field.

Wilson should have made the catch without any difficulty and had the ball in his hand just as the crowd started to cheer, and then dropped it. R. G. B. Hayter was bowled by Allison for two runs. At 3 o'clock the score was 188 for 8 wickets.

Five minutes later Hayter succumbed to a clever straight

Wayland Academy Wins Track Meet

(China Press Correspondence)

Hangchow, May 6.—The fifth annual track and field meet of middle schools of nearby cities was held here today. The contesting schools were Wayland Academy, Hangchow; Kashing High School; James Sprunt Academy, Kiangyin; Chekiang Provincial Second Middle School, Kashing and Hangchow College Preparatory School.

The outcome was in doubt to the last event, and was decided on the relay which is not usually a scoring event. Up to this final event Hangchow College Preparatory School and Wayland Academy, local rivals, see-sawed back and forth between second and first places, and were tied at 36½ points when the regular events ended. The half mile relay was a neck and neck race, with the College Preparatory team barely in the lead until the last lap when Wayland's winner of the hundred yard dash forged into a lead which he held to the end. Third and fourth places were won by James Sprunt Academy and Kashing High School with twenty-six and eighteen points each. Wayland's total was forty-one and a half points, with Hangchow Preparatory only 2½ points behind.

BALL PLAYERS TO ELECT CAPTAIN FOR NEW SEASON AT CLUB HOUSE TOMORROW

Hopkins In Spite Of Injury To Leg Which Will Keep Him Out Of Game For Some Time Still Is Favored For The Berth

Shanghai ball players will get together tomorrow evening in the newly constructed mat-shed, and elect a captain for the season of 1922. There are many possibilities for the berth. There is much baseball politics afoot for the election.

Hopkins had been slated for the position until Sunday when he wrenched his bad leg, a left-over injury from last year, and went out of the game for the next few weeks. It is not certain now that he will be given the berth. And there are not many candidates likely to substitute him.

It has been felt among baseball men that the season's captain should be an old timer who plays in the infield. First base has been considered the best position from which to control the nine on the field. Hopkins was slated for the initial sack, and for the captaincy. But the whole situation is altered with his injury.

Many fans and players favor Hopkins even with his bad leg and the probability that he cannot play for weeks. They feel that his local experience and his general knowledge of the game should place him first among possible candidates for the position. The popular southpaw first sacker and outfielder has suffered little in favor for the captaincy. He may be elected even though he cannot play for the next week or two.

The alternatives for the office are Secretary Jack Smith, who is trying for second base this year; Freddie Bills, a committeeman and retired president who doesn't care to bother with the job, and a newcomer, Woods, who must play first base this season. The latter is a good ball player, and might prove a good leader for the team in spite of his greenness. The vote, it is believed, will be between him and Hopkins.

The squad work out this afternoon and tomorrow in preparation for the big game with Nanking on Saturday. The men from the Northern language school are a strong combination and are certain to make the local nine hustle. Intensive infield and outfield practice are in order for the local squad until the calling of play for Saturday's game. Every candidate for the team is expected out for today's and tomorrow's workout. Practice commences at 5 p.m.

heartedly to recreating a social order which shall be Christian, then many activities of western lands, which owe their origin to the Christian spirit but which are no longer considered in that way, because of the slowness of the Church to accept the social message, will be associated in the Chinese mind directly with Christianity as these methods and activities are taken up by the Chinese."

WOMEN MAKE APPEAL

In a talk given by Miss Fan Yu-jing of the Y.W.C.A. and in the discussion which followed the leadership report, notably in a talk made by Mrs. Thurston, president of the Gingling College, Nanking, the strongest possible appeal was made for a full recognition of the qualities of leadership in the women of the Christian church.

Miss Fan claimed that the church has been ready to recognise the place of women in theory but less in practice and pointed to the fact that in spite of much effort only 200 women are enrolled among the 1,200 delegates. She claimed that women should be chosen for leadership in the church because of their ability to look at problems from the standpoint of the whole, because of their instinct to look far into the future and of their training in sacrificial service.

The key to secure greater leadership by women was felt by both Miss Fan and Mrs. Thurston to be the opening of wider opportunities for education for the women and girls of China.

Mrs. Thurston claimed that the development of the leadership of women in the church is held back not so much by the conservativism of the Chinese as by that of the foreigner who inherit this from the West.

"The women students of China are feeling this intensely," she said, "and it is going to be one of the great issues of the future."

ELECT COUNCIL

The latter part of the morning session was given to the election of the new National Christian Council on the basis of nominations made by the organisations represented at the Conference. Those whose names are given below were elected and seven more to be chosen later will bring the membership up to the full 100. Bishop Roots in presenting the names gave a full explanation of the principles of representation which had governed the 70 nominees who then chose the 23 additional people listed under the heading "general" in the following list. He spoke especially of the desire of the group to include on the list Dr. Cheng Ching-yi and Rev. E. C. Lobenstine, executive secretaries of the C. C. C. who have made such a notable contribution to the cause of the Church in China, especially in their preparation for this great Conference.

Our portrait is of Mrs. WOODROW, of 56, Robinson Road, Tooting, London, England, whose husband writes:

"My wife has suffered very badly for the past four or five years with Piles, being unable to sleep at night or get any relief during the day. She tried several advertised remedies, none of which did her any good. Some three weeks ago she thought she would try 'Clarke's Blood Mixture,' and before she had taken half a bottle she was better, and by the time she had finished the second bottle she was quite cured. She can now sleep well, eat well, and get about her work, and her general health is better than it has been for years." In a further letter some eight months later Mr. Woodrow writes: "I am pleased to say that since my wife's cure of Piles in September, 1918, there has been no sign of return of the trouble."

ball from Allison, retiring with two runs to his credit. Sparke then joined Bagnall, both playing cautiously. Allison caught Sparke, the latter going out with five. Graham, in next, failed to stop Allison's first ball. Beattie, the last man, went in at 3:10 o'clock. Bagnall was caught by Ollerdessen after the Hongkong Major had outshone all others on the field. Bagnall's total was 64.

Hongkong scored 191 runs in its first innings and Shanghai immediately went in to bat.

SHANGHAI BATS

Quite a crowd of spectators were present and with no loss of time, Shanghai commenced their innings at 3:30 p.m. with Hayward and Cockburn at the wickets, against the bowling of Davies and Le Fleming.

From the beginning these 2 batsmen showed marked steadiness and played themselves in. Hayward soon commenced turning his cuts and off drives and scored quite fast. Cockburn carried on as he started scoring moderately and carefully. After an hour's playing in which the tension was beginning to be felt 100 having gone up amid loud clapping Hayward hit a beautifully timed 6. He tried to do the same with Graham's next ball but failed and retired with a splendid 58 to his credit.

Barrett sallied forth and joined Cockburn who was making the bowling look easy, and scored free and easily. Cockburn meanwhile was approaching his century and playing a splendid game when he was well caught by Purcell off a difficult delivery by Davies. Ollerdessen joined Barrett but called a short run and was sent back to the pavilion without having scored. Barrett then had the misfortune of being l.b.w. to Davies who was really bowling brilliantly. This run of ill-luck seemed to bode ill for the other batsmen and Wainwright and Brook both succumbed to the wiles of Hayter who had Wainwright caught by Olliver and clean bowled Brook.

Billings and Clifford now made a good stand realising 26 runs till the drawing of stumps at 6 p.m.

Billings having scored 15 and Clifford 11.

"Bobbing" Au Fait 2,500 Years Ago

(Reuter's Service)

Berkeley, Cal., April 18.—Bobbed hair and earpuffs were fashionable 2,500 years ago, according to the results of an investigation conducted here by students of the University of California who recently produced "The Version of Marpessa," a Grecian outdoor pageant.

Several of the girls had demurred at taking part because they feared their bobbed locks would not look sufficiently ancient.

An investigation was started and the students and their faculty advisors found that the Greek women of centuries ago bobbed their hair, used earpuffs and also resorted to brilliantine and other beauty aids on occasion.

A TRIP-HAMMER DRAMA WHOSE BLOWS HIT HARD ON THE HEART

"DICE OF DESTINY"

Starring

H. B. WARNER

and

LILLIAN RICH

Story by JOHN MOROSO

Suspenseful—Dramatic—Human—Thrilling Play.

Straight from the Shoulder with a Smashing blow aimed at the very heart of your Emotions," Dice of Destiny" grips you with its power and Romance.

It is a high-class Melodrama that starts off in its opening scenes with Action and Suspense. As it swings along it gathers momentum and crashes a tremendous climax upon you. Some Real and Human comedy bits brighten and relieve the tenseness at Unexpected Moments

The story is rich and colorful in types.

COURT PENALIZES POLICE OFFICER WHO HIT CHINESE

Mr. Burkill's Chauffeur Said Constable Attacked Him With Baton

A charge of assault that was made against Police Constable A. C. Oldis by Zung Zao-tuo, chauffeur for Mr. A. W. Burkill, was sustained yesterday by Magistrate G. W. King in the British Police Court and a nominal penalty—payment of the cost of the summons—was imposed.

Police Constable Oldis said that he was on traffic duty on Bubbling Well Road outside the race course when he saw a crowd of Chinese collected in the prohibited area. He went up and dispersed them.

The complainant, he declared, would not move on when asked to do so, but produced a servant's ticket, entitling him to admission to the racecourse. The Constable gave him his choice of moving on or going inside the racecourse.

The complainant, according to the constable, still refused to move. The Constable pushed him, whereupon the chauffeur struck him in the chest. Constable Oldis than took out his baton and hit him twice on the thigh.

Vacancies Filled In Court Of Consuls

Mr. N. Aall, Consul-General for Norway, and Mr. C. F. Garstin, British Acting Consul-General, have been elected to fill the vacancies in the Court of Foreign Consuls occasioned by the departure on long leave of Mr. T. Raaschou, Consul General for Denmark, and the death of Sir Everard Fraser, K. C. M. G., British Consul-General.

The present composition of the court is as follows; Mr. E. S Cunningham, American Consul-General; Mr. N. Aall and Mr. C. F. Garstin.

Trust Reforms, Judges Discover

(China Press Service)

New York, May 9.—Federal Judges Rogers, Hough and Santon filed a dissolution order against the American Sugar Refining Company, other corporations and individual defendants in the government Sherman law suit begun twelve years ago.

The Court held that in twelve years delay opening and awaiting decision in other suits, the American Sugar Refining Company had abandoned the trust methods and today's order merely becomes a matter of record.

Sentenced To Die For Opposing Soviet

(China Press Service)

Moscow, May 9.—Eight priests and two other persons, one a woman, have been sentenced to death for opposition to the requisitioning of church treasuries and alleged participation in disturbances. Twenty-eight others are sentenced to imprisonment.

It is reported that Madame Brusiloff, the daughter of General Brusiloff, one of the most noted Russian commanders in the World War, is the woman who has been sentenced to death.

DEBT REFUNDING

(China Press Service)

Washington, May 9.—The administration said that definite progress had been made in negotiations toward the refunding of eleven billion dollars of foreign debt.

The refunding may be expected as soon as the Genoa conference terminates and foreign economic and financial experts are released from duties there.

MIKADO RETURNS

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, May 9.—His Majesty the Emperor, who has been staying at Hayama since December of last year, returned to the Imperial Palace here this afternoon.

Harding To Urge Subsidy Measure

(China Press Service)

Washington, May 9.—President Harding invited the Republican members of the Senate Commerce and the House Merchant Marine Committees to a conference on Tuesday night to discuss the merchant marine exchange bill. It is said that the President probably will urge the passage of the bill at the present session.

The Shipowners' Association of the Pacific filed a vigorous protest at the provision of the administration ship subsidy bill prohibiting the subsidy of vessels under 1,500 tons.

They said that members of the Association operated a hundred wind jammers for trans-Pacific lumber trade which would be driven immediately from trade if they were not given aid. The contention has received hearty endorsement.

Americans To Be Protected

(China Press Service)

London, May 9.—The Central News says that an agreement was reached between Britain, the mandatory of Palestine, and the United States, providing that Americans in the Holy Land shall have the same rights of protection as nationals of members of the League of Nations.

Expedition Will Try To Raise Lusitania

(Reuter's Service)

Philadelphia, May 9.—An expedition will set out on May 25 with the object of salvaging the Lusitania and other submarined vessels. It is anticipated that there will be little difficulty in raising the Lusitania, the exact position of which is known.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

May 10, 1922

Spot and forward bar silver were each up ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 69⅞ cents, and the London-New York cross rate to 444¼.

The only changes in the official quotations here today were a drop in the Rupee rate to 262½ and a rise in the Yen rate to 63.

Our market was steady today from the opening, increased in strength during the day, and closed firm. At the opening, business in Sterling was done at 3-6⅛ for May and 3-6 for June-July.

Gold Dollars at the same time were done at 77¾ for May-June and 77½ for July.

However, later in the morning, speculators became sellers, and at the close, there were sellers of Sterling at 3-6¼ for May and June deliveries, 3-6 3-16 for July, and 3-6 to the end of the year.

There were sellers of Gold Dollars at the close at 78 for May-June, 77¾ for July and 77½ to the end of the year. The Sterling rate in India has advanced materially during the past day or two, and this no doubt will give a steadier undertone to the silver market.

New York report their market as being firm with a good demand. The London market is reported as steady.

Singapore Rubber Auctions

Singapore, April 26, 1922

London has remained steady with slight upward fluctuations during the past week. This morning 5⅝d. was reported for spot London, and 16¼ cents for spot in New York, which quotations are slightly below those of Monday. The local market, however, has not responded to those fluctuations, and business continues to be rather difficult owing to this market being above the parity of the consuming markets.

There were only 595 tons catalogued for sale at today's auction; of this quantity 554 tons were offered and 404 tons sold.

The demand was good and prices show in general a slight improvement on the week.

Awarded Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet was wanted, but buyers' bids for 28 cents and sellers' limits 28½ cents only resulted in the withdrawal of most lots; a few parcels, however, packed on cases, changed hands at 28½ cents.

Sheet equal to Standard was in strong demand and sold easily at 28 cents.

Off Quality lots sold to an interested market at very fair prices.

Only one lot Awarded Standard 1st Latex Crepe, packed in cases, was sold, fetching 28½ cents.

Crepe equal to Standard and Off Color Crepes met with a keen competition at above-mentioned prices.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes advanced on an average ½ cent on the week.

IODISED THROAT TABLETS
Allay all irritation

THE General Public is hereby notified that supplies of "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS, the remarkable new throat remedy that is now being so largely and successfully prescribed by physicians in Great Britain, are now being made available for residents in China.

Representing the latest advance in scientific throat medication, these tablets, by reason of their Iodine content, are indubitably superior to any other pastilles or tablets that have yet been evolved by scientific research.

Their use is positively indicated in all cases of Sore and Ulcerated Throat, Hoarseness, Quinsy, Throat Catarrh, Tonsilitis, Laryngitis, etc.

As a highly efficient throat disinfectant when epidemics are rife, IODISED THROAT TABLETS indoubtedly excel any other preparation yet put upon the market.

No malignant Diptheria, Influenza, or other germ can find lodgement on a membranous surface that has been subjected to the peculiar antiseptic influences of these tablets.

Pleasant to the palate, and allaying all irritation, each tablet, as it slowly dissolves in the mouth, releases, in harmonious combination with other fine quality medicaments, a specific quantity of the pure Tincture of Iodine, to soothe, heal, and sterilize the inflamed area.

WARNING:—All cautions of the genuine and original IODISED THROAT TABLETS bear the "IXL" trade-mark, and each tablet is embossed with the letter "A." Reject feeble substitutes.

All first-class chemists supply "IXL" IODISED THROAT TABLETS.

A Survey Of The Political, Religious And Economic Situation In China—IV

SHANTUNG PROVINCE

(Southern Baptist Mission, Tsingtao)

By Rev. Edgar L. Morgan

WHILE the eyes of the outside world within the last two years have been centered again and again on Shantung, sometimes because of famine or flood and again because of military occupation by a foreign power, the masses of the people of our province have gone on with little concern for movements beyond their immediate sphere. Governor Tien Chung-yu has not greatly endeared himself to the people by his demand for increased taxes, and by his failure to promote repairs of the broken dykes of the Yellow River. In many places there has been food enough with promise of crops sufficient for future use. In other places, however, which have been affected by recurring floods thousands have perished or are on the border of starvation.

Economically we have a problem not only of river conservancy, re-afforestation, but a large one of transportation. The long talked-of Chefoo-Weihsien Railway has materialised in the form of a good motor road which is now finished from Weihsien east as far as Hwanghsien. Much of the work except a few bridges is also finished to Chefoo. Lack of money has stopped the work. The fleet of motorbuses was commandeered by Chang Tso-lin. If Shantung were well outfitted with good motor roads and a few more stretches of urgently needed railways, the problem of feeding the populace in the flood-stricken regions would be simplified. The Famine Relief by the Red Cross and other agencies, largely staffed by missionaries and trusty Chinese converts, has turned the calamities into good by the construction of several stretches of good motor roads in those regions. Their future usefulness in grain distribution will demonstrate the wisdom of using famine laborers in the building of good roads.

The recent withdrawal of Japanese railway guards is a proof to the world that Japan has entered on a somewhat new day in her treatment of China. Nothing that Japan can do to remove the almost universal distrust of her China policy will be too great a price to pay to re-establish confidence in her fairness and in her asseverated goodwill to China. This happy event has been somewhat overshadowed by the more recent flurry caused by the game just played out between Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin. In this struggle, while Chang tried to steal in at the Eastern door, the intelligent and reading public doubtless sided with Wu Pei-fu.

There is unquestionably at present great hope in Shantung that the Rehabilitation Commission will be successful in consummating the settlement with Japan. There is universal desire on the part of thinking people that both the railway and the City of Tsingtao shall be so managed as to demonstrate to the world the ability of Chinese along the lines of efficiency.

In the eyes of the people who have followed political developments at the Washington Conference there is an unusually kindly interest in the American missionaries as well as a greater respect and inclination to hear their message. This however extends to practically all missions. It may be said that on the whole there has never been a wider interest in Christianity than there is at present. In the words of the immortal Judson "The prospects are as bright as the promises of God."

Export Trade Big U. S. Need, Says Bureau Chief

Cleveland, O., April 10.—Describing foreign trade as the "fly wheel" of the American business machine and declaring that foreign outlets represented indispensable "business stabilisers," Dr. Julius Klein, Director of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce, in a speech today at the first annual convention of the Bankers Association for Foreign Trade, vigorously attacked the authors of what he termed "insidious propaganda, which, like sand deliberately put into bearings, is designed to slow down our export machine at the time of its greatest need."

Dr. Klein explained that certain interests in America were endeavoring to minimise the necessity for greater exports, or, in fact, any foreign trade at all. These people, said Dr. Klein, evidently believe that the United States would prosper if it were surrounded by a Chinese wall. If they had their way, the director added, the carefully constructed American export machine will be completely destroyed.

The director said that while foreign trade at present formed only 10 or 20 percent of America's total commercial activity, that percentage represented billions of dollars' worth of business and the employment—or if lost, lack of employment—of thousands of American citizens. "In these days of narrowing profits," Dr. Klein declared, "that margin, if carried with safety, is just the difference between solvency and bankruptcy—profit or loss."

BIG FACTOR IN BUSINESS

Foreign trade is now the only remaining recourse for thousands of firms which would be in the hands of receivers were it not for their overseas orders, Dr. Klein said. He said it represented one of the most effective solutions of unemployment problems. He called attention to a recent statement by a former president of the American Bankers Association, comprising some 23,000 banks, in which it was stated that: "a first prerequisite for the return of prosperity is an increase in foreign trade."

While 1921 is recognised by all as "the year of depression and liquidation," many business men will be astonished at the results of a comparison of American exports during that year and the last normal year, 1913, the director said, continuing: "By eliminating values, whose fluctuations make any comparison very uncertain, and confining our observations to quantities, it is found that every important item of manufactures and foodstuffs, which formed the bulk of our foreign trade, has been enormously increased in the eight-year period—1913-21. During that time our exports of leading prepared agricultural products increased in quantity by very heavy percentages. Shipments of bacon increased 95 percent, lard 55 percent, butter 158 percent, starch 135 percent, cheese 354 percent, refined sugar 1703 percent, canned milk 1713 percent, etc. This means that the great mid-western and southern areas producing the bulk of these commodities have very greatly multiplied their interests in overseas markets.

EXPORTS INCREASE

"A similar survey of a few typical American manufactured products shows the same marked increases in export activity. During the period 1913-21, quantities of automobiles exported increased 43 percent—and this in spite of drastic cuts in our auto exports in 1921. Similarly, exports of electric lamps increased 293 percent; steel plates 50 percent, tin plate 90 percent, wrapping paper 90 percent, plate glass 278 percent, etc. This is a sufficiently diversified list to indicate that the increases were not confined to any closely related group of industries or commodities.

"The most convincing evidence of the growing appreciation of our urgent need for foreign trade is found in the tabulations of requests directed to the Department of Commerce for assistance in finding and exploiting foreign markets. Last October such requests were coming in at the rate of about 7,500 a week. They are now coming in at the rate of nearly 10,500 weekly—an increase of 37 percent. Requests for information concerning specific openings to sell American goods abroad are now coming in to the Department of Commerce at the rate of 1,700 a week. Last fall, 1,000 a week was the general average, an increase of 70 percent."

Explorer Finds New Narcotic Drugs

Several new narcotic drugs will be given to the world as the result of the explorations in the Amazon basin conducted by Dr. Henry A. Rusby, who, until illness forced his return to the United States, headed the biological expedition that was financed by the H. K. Mulford Company, of Philadelphia.

With the usual caution of a scientist, the dean of the College of Pharmacy of Columbia University has declined since his return, three months ago, to make any strong assertions about his newest drug discoveries except to say that they probably would relieve pain in a certain disease which he does not now want to identify, but which is regarded as the worst scourge of mankind.

"There is one drug I found," he said, "that has the property of checking spasmodic muscular action and which will tend to relieve pain caused by muscular twitching. I hope it will prove to be a valuable addition to pharmaceutics."

There was something almost devilish in the sufferings Dr. Rusby was compelled to undergo in order that he might find this means of relieving human pain. He does not say so, but there must have been hours down there in the Bolivian jungle when this sixty-seven-year-old scientific adventurer felt that nature, jealous of her secrets, was racking his body with every ache that the rest of humanity would be spared by his discovery.

"Will I ever head another expedition?" repeated Dr. Rusby recently. "Never! Never! Right this minute I am as far from my family as I shall ever be in this life." When Dr. Rusby said that he was seated in the boardroom of the College of Pharmacy, in 115 West Sixty-eighth Street.

"Some of the articles that have been printed since my return are inaccurate in one sense," said Dr. Rusby. "They make it appear that I underwent great hardships after leaving my party and starting back to civilisation. That is wrong. Two of my friends were with me during the first part of the journey, which was on a raft. The hard part was during the many weeks when every step was agony, when I was losing sleep, but still went out into the forest to do my collecting. I was determined to do that"——

Dr. Rusby paused and his muscles tensed as his mind filled with the terrible effort of those pain-ridden days.

"The expedition was one of work, work, work," he went on. "The River Bopi is one of the worst to navigate in South America. It is very much like the Roosevelt River, and that is the worst. One of our rafts was smashed to pieces, so that we lost a large part of our outfit, and a good part that was ruinously soaked with water.

"We were to have started on January 1, 1921, but I had pleuro-pneumonia at my home in Newark. On May 15 I was allowed to get up and had to be assisted by two people to a chair by the window. Yet I sailed two weeks later. I shouldn't have gone, some of my friends say, but if I had been possessed of second sight I should have gone, anyway. You see, the Mulford people had agreed to finance that expedition on my say-so. The others had made all their arrangements, domestic and financial, getting leave from the institutions with which they are connected. I couldn't let the whole business fail on my account. I simply couldn't.

"There was Dr. W. M. Mann, assistant entomologist of the Natural History Museum, who accompanied us to specialise in ants and termites. We got a motion picture of the entire life history of a termite colony. Termites are ant-like creatures that devour anything that gets in their path. They have been known to eat a tent in the night, so that in the morning campers who had retired beneath shelter awakened with nothing but the sky over them. Dr. Mann was also collecting rare species of living animals for the Washington Zoo. He has obtained many monkeys and parrots.

"Then there was Dr. O. E. White, of the Brooklyn Botanical Garden. He had a special commission from Oakes Ames, of the Busse Institute of Harvard, to collect orchids. Dr. Everett Pearson represented Indiana University, and he also was collecting for Dr. Eigenman, the world's authority on American fishes and who is now making an encyclopedia of the fish of South America. Dr. Pearson also collected reptiles for Dr. Noble, of the American Museum; also frogs and lizards for the University of Michigan. Dr. Mann and I were each assisted by Bolivian students sent with us by their government. The motion picture men—they started a day or two ago up the Uaupes River, the one explored by Hamilton Rice, on a more hazardous trip—were Gordon MacCreagh, the Oriental scholar; Duval Brown, of Virginia, who resigned the consulship at La Paz to accompany us, and George S. McCarty jr., of Woodbury, N. J.

"As I said, they were all ready, and if I had not gone the backers of the expedition would have called it off. So I went. I was very seasick during the voyage. Then we went ashore and went up into the mountains. We were at an altitude of 16,500 feet and I got the high altitude disease, which is as nauseating as sea sickness. On top of that in La Paz I had an attack of heart failure and nearly died. Then we pushed on through the mountains and I developed pleurisy. There were days of muleback riding when I got over that—more than a week of riding by day and sleeping on the ground. That is when I got neuritis. The nerves from hip to foot were inflamed. I don't know how I stood it.

"Almost enough, eh? Well, in October I developed an ulcerated tooth. I think that was the basis of Roosevelt's last illness. I had a complete set of dental forceps in our equipment. I tried first to pull it myself, but couldn't make it, so I got Dr. Mann to try it. He was afraid of hurting me—it was a big, strong one—and he broke it.

"That left the nerve exposed and I suffered torture for three weeks until I killed the nerve with arsenic, which I applied with wedgets of cotton held in place with my tongue. Some of the arsenic got into my stomach and that made me ill again.

"Then the neuritis grew worse, and, finally, December 1, I decided to come home. I got back February 26."

It was not as simple as that—deciding and getting home. There were two days of floating on a raft, which brought the emaciated, worn out Dean twenty-five miles from the base of the Andes, and then he boarded a Bolivian government launch which had been sent to him in response to a request carried by Indian runners. On that he traveled to Esperanza, the highest falls on the Madeira—it really is on the Beni, a fork—and there were eighteen more falls below this. At Riberalta, just above the Esperanza, there is a city. When the explorer was there in the '80s, a young man, there was just one house there. He had to walk around the fall and then boarded a railroad that parallels the course of the stream throughout the rest of the falls, a whole day's train ride, at the end of which he went into the railroad hospital, called Canadelaria Hospital, for a few days' rest. He was now in the town of Puerto Velho, in Brazil. When the traveler was there in 1886 it was just forest.

"I was mighty thin when they put me to bed in the hospital," said Dr. Rusby. "You could have used my ribs for a washboard. I remained there until I could get a steamer for Manaos, which is 1,000 miles up the Amazon.

"But that ship brought me directly from Manaos to New York. The Amazon is a wonderful stream. Well, when I left Manaos I thought I was over the neuritis, but it has come back, and the doctor tells me I'll never be entirely over it. But it was worth it.

"I have fifty or sixty new drugs, and undoubtedly all have merit. One of the most important finds was a narcotic drug that has the property of checking spasmodic muscular action; it tends to relieve pain caused by muscular twitching. In fact, I have several things that I hope will be good.

"These things now become a matter of pharmaco-dynamics, which is the investigation of the physiological action of drugs, the action of drugs on the system. In ancient times they didn't have pharmaco-dynamics. Now this is an important phase of science. Much of it is done on animals to locate the field of action. Later the action is measured more accurately by experimentation on human beings.

"My system of locating a new drug is to go among the natives and seek from them information concerning their remedies. Then if find their remedy is effective I analyse it. Once, on another expedition, an old woman told of certain leaves that had healing properties. She said that she took the leaves and heated them and then wrapped the ailing child in them. If the leaves turned black, she said, the baby would get well. If they remained green it would die. That sounds like mere superstition, but it probably had this basis, that if the patient perspired the leaves would turn black and if the patient was beyond perspiring death was certain.

"On this trip I went among the Indians, most of whom live in a state of peonage about the big rubber stations and on the farms. I'd ask the employers who among them were credited with a knowledge of healing and then seek out these people. It's just a matter of picking up a thread of information and then following it to the end. Once I was riding down there and some leaves were whipped into my face as I passed beneath a tree. I snatched at them and got a handful. There were some small berries among them. I found that I had a relative of the opium-producing plants. So, you see, some of the discoveries are accidental.

"I started out as a botanist in 1880, and then went for the Smithsonian Institution to collect the southern Rocky Mountain flora. I had three seasons out there and then decided to study medicine. After that I became interested in economic botany. In that connection I have brought back wagon loads of useful material for the New York Botanical Gardens—barks, fibers, entire trees. Some of this can be used to produce beverages. Some has other possibilities.

"There is one thing more. During the trip back on the steamer from Manaos I was working every day sorting material, classifying it, repacking and generally getting our stuff in shape. I'm glad it's over, but, as I said, the game was worth the candle. I'd do it again if I knew it was going to cost my life."

Lumbago.

This is a rheumatism of the muscles of the back. It comes on suddenly and is quite painful. Every movement aggravates the disease. Go to bed, keep quiet and have Chamberlain's Liniment applied and a quick recovery may be expected. Mrs. F. J. Dann, Brockport, N. Y., writes: "I can honestly say that Chamberlain's Liniment cured me of lumbago a year ago last summer. When I began using it, I was flat on my back in bed and could not turn to the left or right. I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment in the house and this was applied to my back. It promptly drove away the pains and aches."

New U. S. Tariff Measure Of Great Interest To Firms Here

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 11.—The following are the most important duty rates, of interest to China, in the Tariff Bill, reported today to the Senate by the Finance Committee, with comparisons with the Fordney Bill and the Payne-Aldrich—the last Republican protective tariff act—and Underwood laws, wherever feasible. The ad valorem rates in the Fordney measure are based on American valuation, but they are used here in the comparisons. Experts attached to the committee say that 25 percent American valuation is generally equivalent to fifty percent foreign valuation:

Wheat, 30 cents bushel: Fordney and Payne-Aldrich 25 cents: Underwood free. Wheat flour 78 cents on 100 pounds: Fordney 50 cents: Payne-Aldrich 25 percent: Underwood 45 cents 196 lb. barrel.

Black or Silver Foxes, $20 per head: Fordney $350. Payne-Aldrich twenty percent: Underwood 10 percent.

Almonds, unshelled, five cents pound: Fordney four cents: Payne-Aldrich four: Underwood three. Shelled 15 cents: Fordney 12: Payne-Aldrich six: Underwood four.

Peanuts, unshelled, 3-4 cents pound: shelled 1 1-2 cents pound: Fordney three and four cents: Payne-Aldrich 1-2 and 1: Underwood 3-8 and 3-4.

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILLIAMS, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARDMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.
